

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

August 20, 2010
Contact: Laura Stafford
970-245-3288
lauras@wcbotanic.org

Event: First Friday Art in the Grand Valley

Date: Friday September 3, 2010

Time: 5pm to 7pm

Where: The Western Colorado Botanical Gardens, Elizabeth B. Harris Amphitheatre

Cost: FREE

Join us Friday September 3rd!!
They're back!!

Art and Dance Merge!

Founded by artistic directors Matthew Lindstrom and Laura Bradley, Push/Don't Pull Dance Theatre operates with the specific purpose of creating and advancing collaborative, contemporary dance. The company's work explores the human condition through dance creation, dance education, and dance performance. PDP believes in advocating the validity and necessity of movement. Exploring the stages and milestones of relationships, PDP embodies a true vision of dance/theater in its repertoire, creating abstract dance meaningful to audiences. PDP is an innovative force on the Western Slope; performing dances in diverse venues and providing movement opportunities to people of all ages. Through performances, workshops, festivals and outreach; Push/Don't Pull Dance Theatre builds a sense of community and place within the locale they operate.

If you missed their last performance at the Gardens, you don't want to miss this one!!
Free Refreshments and Cash bar 5-7pm 655 Struthers Ave (S.7th & Riverside Parkway)